Massey Named as Secretary of the Canyon C. of C.

A. B. HOLT

CECIL MASSEY

A. B. Holt has resigned as secretary of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce, and Cecil Massey has been named to succeed him.

Mr. Holt has served in this capacity during the past four years. He resigned in order to devote his full time to the Randall County Abstract Company of which he is owner.

Mr. Massey came to Canyon last June as director of the Recreation program which was instigated at that time. His work has been very successful in this line.

Records of the Chamber have been moved to the third floor of the court house where Mr. Massey has his office.

Girl Scouts Troop 10 Completes Third Year Together

Thursday afternoon the Joseph Findley home was the scene of a party observing the third birthday of Girl Scout Troop 10. Mrs. Findley entertainingly presented and discussed a portion of her doll collection.

The serving table was laid with a crochet cloth and centered with a jonquil pot plant on a reflector. Before being served the Scouts repeated their laws in a candlelight service. Guests were served birthday cake and hot chocolate. Mrs. Findley poured.

The present members of this troop, now beginning its fourth year of scouting, are the same 12 girls who started out in the second grade. During the three years other girls have joined and dropped out leaving the original group.

This year, in working for their second class badges, members of the troop have completed projects in four phases of activity: agriculture, successfully planted a bulb; international friendship, learned of scouting in Holland from Sophia Von Mourick; community activity, distributed and collected March of Dimes containers in which was collected $69.00; games, divided in three patrols which in turn learned a game well enough to teach it to the other patrols. The most important excursion thus far has been a visit to Memorial Chapel where Dr. J. A. Hill spoke to them. Also Troop 10 recently joined the other six troops of Girl Scouts in holding a bake sale which brought in $70.00, which is to be used for shingles on the Girl Scout building.

Leaders of the troop are Mrs. Roger Whealy, Mrs. E. L. Hardaway, and Mrs. Hatcher Brown.

Committee mothers for the troop are Mrs. Marion Higdon, Mrs. E. M. Turner, Mrs. O. L. Coleman, and Mrs. Virgil Henson.

ORGAN RECITAL SUNDAY

On Sunday, March 11, Mrs. J. D. Barker will present an organ recital in Memorial Chapel on the campus of West Texas State from 4 to 5 o'clock. The public is invited.

Farmers Grain Elevator Burns Friday Morning

The Farmers Elevator burned to the ground Thursday morning, removing a landmark in Canyon .The elevator was built in 1908.

R. B. Elliott was owner of the elevator and grain which was destroyed in the fire.

The feed business was recently bought by Taylor-Evans Farm Store of Tulia, and extensive improvements were underway on the plant. The new feed building, adjoining the office was saved from the flames.

A box car which was being loaded with grain stood by the side of the elevator was burned. Fortunately a freight train came by when the fire was discovered soon after three o'clock in the morning, and pulled out of danger a string of cars which stood on the track.

There was no wheat in the elevator, and only a small amount of other grain.

The elevator equipment was a total loss. This equipment was in excellent shape, although the building was old.

Insurance covered the loss of the building, but the grain will be largely a loss.

Walter Sanford, Jr. Died Result of Heart

The Pullman Herald of Pullman, Washington, published the account of the sudden death of Walter W. Sanford, Jr., who was serving as student advisor and assistant professor of journalism in the Washington State College.

Mr. Sanford was the husband of the former Lee Christine Cousins, daughter of Mrs. L. M. Cousins of Canyon. In addition to his wife, he leaves a daughter, Sue, 8 years of age, and a son, 5½ years old, together with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Sanford, Sr., of Billings, Montana.

The deceased died suddenly of a heart attack following an illness of only a few hours.

He was born in Spokane, graduated from the Billings, Mont., high school and took his B .A. from the University of Montana, and M. A. from the University of Washington.

Mrs. Cousins attended the funeral of her son-in-law, returning last Tuesday. The young widow will remain in Washington for at least six months in order that the estate may be settled.

Phone Situation Discussed at Tulia

W. W. Sternenberg, Cecil Massey, W. C. Jarnagin and A. G. Kieselbach, representing the Canyon Chamber of Commerce, were in Tulia Tuesday to attend a meeting of the Mid-Plains Co-op Telephone group with the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. The meeting had been called for the purpose of ascertaining which territory around Canyan and Tulia could be more profitably served by each organization.

Kotten McGehee of Wayside is president of the Co-op organization. He reported that Washington had assured him that $750,000 would be loaned to the Co-ops for telephone construction. 800 families in this area had signed up for telephone service, but 400 more are needed.

It is proposed that other meetings be held in Happy and Canyon for the benefit of local subscribers who wish to hear the Co-op and Southwestern Bell. O. A. Thomas, district manager, together with telephone representatives from Dallas were at the meeting.

All officers and directors of the Co-ops were present, including a number of Randall county farmers who are interested in securing telephone service.

Bond Issue To Be Discussed in Public Meeting

During their regular meeting on Monday night the city commissioners discussed the need for additional money to care for necessary extensions of the cities water and sewer facilities, and to finance the considerable backlog of street pavings, The growth of the city requires capital expenditures which cannot be met from current revenue without considerable tax increases. It is believed that if a bond issue of reasonable amount could be voted, thereby spreading the cost over a period of years, the cost could be met with little change in the current tax levy.

It is the belief of the City Commission that every reasonable effort should be made to extend the public facilities of the town to the new and developing areas as rapidly as the need arises; and when the residents are prepared to meet their proportionate part of the costs, especially true in the case of paving, the city should be in a financial condition to support these improvements.

The City Commission has asked that all citizens interested in the proposed bond issue please attend an open discussion to be held at the American Legion Hall, Friday, March 9, at 7:30.

New Officers Are Named For Rotary For Coming Year

Officers were elected Tuesday by the Canyon Rotary Club for the year which starts July 1st. Those named were:

O. W. Parker, president.
J. L. Russell, vice president.
Cliff Mlinar, secretary.
Irving SoRelle, Walter Juniper, Wallace McIntyre, Lorenzo Wirt, directors.

Dr. J. A. Hill spoke on Democracy and Education in keeping with Education Week. He was presented by Boone McClure.

Democracy is a government of the people, by the people and for the people, as opposed to the dictatorship which does not recognize the rights of the individual. Capitalism is a term applied to a Democracy, where every person, has the right to progress as his ability permits. If we abandon this doctrine, we have no basis for government. The free world looks to us for leadership, and we shall not fail them.

Education gives each child an equal chance for self improvement. Education is lowering the barriers between race, creeds, social structures. Youth is more tolerant than adults of today.

While many charge that education is falling short of its opportunities, it is the best bulwark which we have against the forces of evil.

Visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Van H. Allm, Van S. Allm, E. E. Bowen, J. F. Pierce, J. H. Yeary, Ken Bell, Bill Dolley, Irving Tolzien, all of Amarillo; Hugh Clearman, W. L. Davis, Jr., of Hereford; John R. Sharp and Elmer Wooten of Canyon.

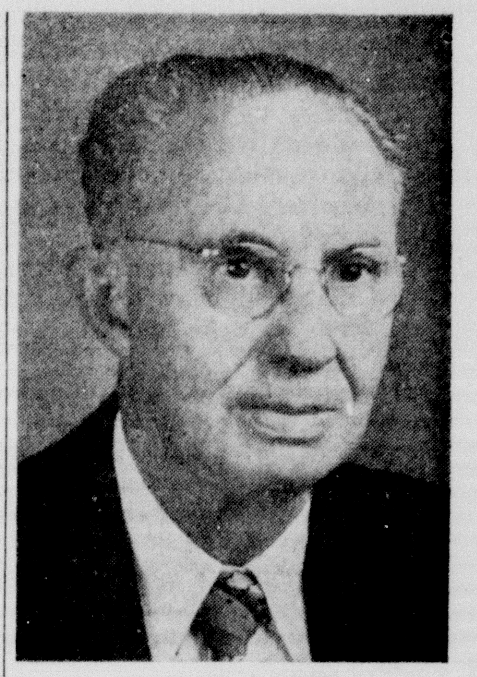
Funeral for Dan K. Usery Held Monday

By Clyde W. Warwick



DAN K. USERY

Dan K. Usery is dead!

Here at the Canyon News office it is almost unbelievable that the man who has been connected so long with the paper is no longer with us. He filled well his place in this organization for a greater part of the past 40 years. Dan Usery was a mechanic. He mastered all of the machinery connected with the printing and newspaper business, and was able to put his finger on the troubled spot of these machines when they started acting up, as printing equipment is so prone to do.

Dan came to Canyon in 1908, back in the olden days when the Canyon News was published in a little frame shop west of the Palace Hotel. It was his first Christmas in Canyon. R. A. Terrill had just taken over the publication of the News. The force was hard pressed to get out the paper and enjoy a Christmas holiday. Mr. Terrill in a moment of jubilee as the last run hit the press was reciting "Twas the Night Before Christmas," swinging in midair a large pair of office scissors. The scissors slipped from his grasp, and went into the cogs of the old cylinder press. Needless to say, the press was put out of commission, and the force labored all night printing the last run on the old George Washington hand press which now stands in the museum of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society. Thus Dan spent his first Christmas in Canyon.

Dan was a member of the force when I arrived in Canyon on July 29, 1910. He was off on his wedding trip. Dan had married Miss Winifred Rudolph at Stratford, daughter of the late C. F. Rudolph, who was a pioneer newspaper man of the Panhandle.

Mr. Usery was born in Augusta, Indiana, August 4, 1882. He came from a line of railroad people, and his father was determined to make a railroad man of Dan. But he did not quite figure with the disposition of young Dan. The boy was placed on a freight train to make a run. At the end of the run, instead of catching a few winks of sleep preparatory to the return trip, Dan kept on going. The printing bug had bit him, and he was through with railroading for ever. Dan worked in various shops in the midwest, and finally drifted to the Southwest, picking up such jobs as came his way. Arriving in Stratford, he found a job on the Stratford Star, where he worked for several months before coming to Canyon. It was in Stratford that he met and wooed Miss Rudolph, who became his bride in July, 1910.

To this union was born one daughter, Mrs. Houston Bright, who is one of the most accomplished musicians in this section, and has been a great aid to her husband in his work in the Music Department of West Texas State.

During her lifetime Mrs. Usery was an ardent civic worker.

Mr. Usery and Mrs. Zula Moore were married on Nov. 10, 1944. Mrs. Usery was a teacher in the Canadian public schools. Her younger daughter, Peggy Moore, is a freshman in West Texas State. An older daughter, Mrs. Lee Kennedy, lives in Wichita Falls.

During his lifetime, Dan Usery was one of the most valued and faithful printers of which any newspaper could boast. After the college building burned in March, 1914, followed by one of the worst drouths this section has ever had, Dan decided that he could do better in other fields. He accepted a position with the Roswell daily newspaper. Afterward he worked in Dalhart and Texhoma, Okla., before returning to Clovis. By this time conditions had picked up in Canyon. Dan came over one Sunday to see how we were getting along at the Canyon News, and decided that we needed him, and he needed us. We had installed an old model 15 linotype, powered by a gasoline engine in daylight, and a motor by night. He had picked up the keyboard during the days in Clovis, and the mechanics of the model 15 were comparatively simple.

About the time Dan returned from Clovis to the Canyon News, the college started publication of The Prairie, student newspaper. Throughout the years Dan has set practically every line of type that has been used in this student publication. He has worked with scores of youthful newspaper men and women, many of whom are successful in the field of journalism today.

For many years the Canyon News was noted for its "school of journalism" because of the practical experience that was given the youthful news writers under the direction of Dan Usery.

The addition of the Canyon News and The Prairie, many other newspapers have been produced in this plant, notably The Sandstorm, students publication of the Amarillo High School. This paper was set into type by Dan Usery. The training received by the students has been of great value in the professional field.

Dan is survived by one sister, who lives in the home of a daughter in East St. Louis, Ill. All of his brothers have passed on. All of them were railroad workers.

Dan was a member of the Christian Church in Canyon, having joined with his first wife. He took little part in social clubs or organizations. While he was not a college graduate, few men had as wide an education as he possessed from his constant reading.

He was not a man of strong physique, and complained much of a severe cough. Yet he was seldom too ill to stay away from his job in the plant. The two linotypes were his charge, and he delighted in keeping them in good running condition. When any piece of machinery failed to function in the office, Dan was the trouble shooter.

Yes, Dan Usery will be greatly missed. His death was a shock to the entire community. He worked all day Thursday at his machine and would have returned to his post Friday and Saturday had there been urgent need for him to come. He was up and around the house two hours before his sudden death. He had lived a full life during his 68 years, and he was ready to lay down the burdens of this world when his time to go came at 6 o'clock Saturday evening.

The funeral service was held Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the First Christian Church, in charge of the pastor, Rev. Win R. Matsler, assisted by the former pastor, Rev. Joseph Findley.

Pall bearers were Clyde W. Warwick, Arthur C. Haley, Jr., Von Vandergriff, C. A. Murray, C. R. Burrow, J. W. Shook.

Honorary pall bearers were S. B. Whittenburg and Jerry Malin of Amarillo, T. V. Reeves, Dr. L. F. Sheffy, O. L. Coleman, Dr. Wallace R. Clark, E. A. Wooten, Ray Campbell, Dr. J. A. Hill, Elmer Gene Mickey, J. J. Walker, John Gillis, M. D. Shepherd, J. L. Duflot, and Charles Hillier.

Internment was in Dreamland Cemetery in charge of the Griggs-Warren Funeral Home.

Here to attend the funeral were: Mrs. Laura Duckworth of Vernon, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Duckworth and daughter, Mary Alice, of Chillicothe, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Duckworth of Lubbock, Woodrow Duckworth of Longview, Mr. and Mrs. Agnew Duckworth of Waco, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Neely and Anielia of Vernon, Lewis Duckworth of Vernon, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Duckworth and Betty of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bell of Chillicothe, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kennedy and Don of Wichita Falls.

Blowing Held to Small Section

Hard winds have prevailed in the Panhandle during the past week at various times, which blew some of the cultivated fields.

In spots where the wheat is gone, there has been some blowing. However, little or no damage has been reported in various sections of the county. It would not take many more high winds to stir up the soil and start blowing of land in spots which are not properly handled is the belief of observers.

Only slight freezes have hit the Panhandle during the past week, with the temperature largely prevailing in the mid 50's. The lowest night temperature has been in the high 20's.

Educators Meeting Slated for Friday

District 9 of the State Teachers Association will hold its annual meeting in Amarillo Friday. All schools of the Panhandle will be closed for one day.

Dr. Ruth Lowes is president of the association and will preside at the interesting program which has been arranged for the day.

Write a Letter and Give Your Views on Education in Texas

Where is education in Texas headed for? (Bad English, but expressive.)

We see that the Texas legislature is all hell bent to wreck higher education in Texas. When one outrageous charge against the colleges fail, another charge is tried.

According to the daily press, some members of the House of Representatives set out to prove that state appropriations were being wasted by the colleges in various kinds of improvements which the lawmakers had refused to allow.

Then comes the charge that State Auditor Cavness denied that state funds were being wasted, but that local funds were being used in some instances for improvements.

It is cited that building the President's home on the campus of West Texas State is one of the gross injustices against the dignity of the legislature.

The legislators close their eyes to the fact that every cent spent on this home came from the building fund set up by the people of Texas from the special tax passed by the people upon themselves for the purpose of building needed buildings, and at the same time prohibiting the legislature from appropriating money for such improvements.

The Newsman followed his own advice and has written a letter to the Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, sending a copy to state Representative Morris Cobb and to Senator Grady Hazlewood. We were very frank in our statement that the House has set out on the road toward wrecking education in Texas unless the colleges, which train teachers, are made better institutions instead of reduced to second rate institutions.

Since we served two terms in that body we feel that we have a right to speak our piece. We feel that the people of Texas are likewise entitled to their say regarding education.

What in the name of common sense has possessed the Governor of Texas to impose his will on the people, first in the creation of a useless institution in East Texas, and second in approving the rape of the existing institutions at the expense of his pet project?

Why was the House Appropriations Committee, organized and directed by the Speaker to cut to the bone all money for higher education, while at the same time the courts of Texas were favored with higher appropriations.

Yes, we wrote a letter on this subject.

We hope that you will get mad enough to write a letter telling the legislators what you think of the situation.

This Is Education Week, So Take Time to Visit Schools

This is education week.

The public schools of Texas are the greatest investment in citizenship that the people are making. Some folks think that the kids are getting progressively worse as time flys by, while the majority of us are convinced that the kids are simply taking advantage of the various advantages which are being offered to them—some bad, some very good.

We are reminded of the Sunday School teacher who was trying to impress upon the youngsters the story of the crucifixion. Suddenly one little boy frantically raised his hand and remarked that if a certain radio character had been present he would have shot h— out of the gang which was opposed to the Christ.

Not all youngsters get such a lesson from their radios. Certainly not all of the programs are uplifting, but they are not as bad as they may seem to oldsters, who do not care for all of the junk which is presented in the guise of entertainment.

Let's visit our schools and see what is going on.

The visitors will be amazed at all that the children learn in their daily work.

Legislators Are Getting Younger and Weaker Believes Old Timer

The other morning we enjoyed a visit for several minutes with a former member of the Texas legislature. We had served with this old boy back in 1929-33, before the House had succumbed to the idea of sending boys to the legislature to do men's jobs. This fellow stayed in the House for 14 years, while The News man was whipped for a third term (very fortunately so.)

His remarks should be sobering. "I served for 14 years and have visited the legislature in practically every session since that time. I have not gone back this session, and do not intend going back. The legislature is getting progressively weaker, due largely to the passive interest of the voters in selecting their lawmakers. When I first started down there, we all knew that we were taking a job that did not pay expenses, and did not gripe. Today the young fellows who go to the legislature start to gripe about the pay as soon as they arrive in Austin. What a change!"

Perhaps our visitor is like the Newsman — getting a little older, if not wiser.

While half the population is trying to stamp out heart disease, the other half is going around, saying, Drop dead.

Think for yourself and act upon your judgment; whatever results will be what you deserve.

The reason that hard work kills so few people is because so few people work hard.

Farm Prices Remain the Real Problem in Our National Life

We had a very interesting conversation with Fielding Heim of Plainview the other day. Mr. Heim has been working on a farm plan since 1933 when prices went to smash. Under his plan, instead of setting up an acreage allotment, Heim would set up a pound allotment on all farm products. The farmers would be free to plant as many acreage of any commodity as he wished, but parity prices would prevail only on the commodity within the poundage allotment. All crops raised above the allotment would be sold on the open market, or stored until a poor crop comes along when the farmer does not raise as much as he is given in allotment.

Mr. Heim has presented the plan to thousands of farmers and farm leaders. Congressman Bob Poage of Waco will introduce a bill in Congress at this session on this measure.

We know little about the farm problem as it now exists, but take the word of farm leaders that the Heim plan is a sound one. It would be fine if a Panhandle farmer would be able to devise a plan to settle the farm issue which has plagued Congress and the nation for years.

More power to Mr. Heim in his work!

Constitutional Amendment to Limit President's Term Final

You can now tell your young son that he cannot be president of the United States for more than two terms.

The constitutional amendment has passed the necessary 36 states to become a part of the federal constitution. It is likely that a number of other states will now join the parade and make the amendment practically unanimous in adoption.

President Truman will not be affected by this amendment. He can run for a third term, if he choses to run, but it is more and more obvious that he will not seek the third term. Truman is getting himself in such a mess that he will likely decide against running.

It is reported from close friends that the President wishes to stay in office. However, his popularity has declined to a very, very low spot. He is reported to wish to return to the Senate from Missouri where he would finish out his political career. Since Truman is very unpredictable, this might be a good deal for him. Yes, if he can carry Missouri.

Big Truck Operators Would Continue Serving Big Cities

We read that the biggest lobby yet seen in Austin is composed of truckers who are demanding that the big jobs be allowed to tear up the Texas highways for the benefit of the owners, rather than for the benefit of the people.

The big trucks operate between big centers, and seldom serve the small communities, like Canyon. These fellows are the ones which tear up the roads by high speed and overloading.

Naturally these lobbyists call the proposed regulation of trucks a railroad bill. Yes, the railroads are interested in the legislation because they are helping build the highways of Texas, which are used free by the big trucks. Please keep in mind the fact that these big trucks do not serve Canyon, but operate on long hauls between big centers.

New Numbering of Canyon News Starts With This Issue

Here it is the first week in March, and another volume of The Canyon News has rolled around. We know that this is wrong, so we are setting out to correct the situation. Like most newspapers we have been changing the volume number after 52 copies have been published. This isn't right, so therefore we are going to do something about this year.

Instead of changing to 56th year of publication with this issue, we are going to number this issue, "52a". The next issue will be 52b, and so on until April 15th, which was the date of the birth of this publication.

From now on, we shall try to keep our birthdays straight, by throwing in Number 53 every fourth year. That is, of course, if the present management has anything to say about it.

We are getting mighty old and tired, and may seek an easier job some of these days! We hope.

Men Are Dying Earlier Than the Women Whom They Marry

Most people have observed how much longer women are living today than their husbands. Last week a gathering was held of couples who started in an East Texas community more than 40 years ago. Today there are three couples left in the original group who hold an annual get together party.

The balance of the group is interesting: Forty widows, one bachelor, one widower!

Perhaps there are too many folks working or worrying themselves to death today over things which they have no control. Too many men are trying to get rich when they should be content with moderate means.

We have always believed that it was worry instead of work which took men to an early grave.

News In Canyon 25 Years Ago

Announcement was made by the owners that the cotton gin would remain in Canyon if a sufficient acreage was planted to cotton this year; otherwise the gin would be moved.

The Canyon Eagle basketball team won fourth place in the State tournament. A field goal by Strain hit the rim of the basket, rolled around, and slowly fell outside instead of inside the basket, thus defeating the Eagles of the State Championship. Curtis Brown, forward, and Buster Brown, guard, were selected on the all-state team.

BOYCE HOUSE "Gives You Texas"

One of the best known of the ranches in the southern section of the state is (said the Taft Tribune some years ago) the 167,000 acre Taft ranch. To this ranch in 1911 came a 35-year old Georgian as engineer. His job was to lay a water line from Gregory to Taft. Upon the completion of his job, his work was so much appreciated that he was hired permanently. From that first visit ,30 years ago, R. H. Anderson has seen Taft grow from a few ranch houses "out in the mesquite brush" to a clean little city of 2,700 people.

Mr. Anderson's duties were numerous. He had to take care of 78 windmills scattered throughout the vast ranch. He cared for the windmills but wore out six Model T's in doing it. Mr. Anderson tells of often fording the bay in a buggy to reach Corpus Christi. He says, "Don't ever think that the ranch was a dull place to live. Something was always happening: barbecues, hunting and fishing parties, and horseback riding were just a few of the ways to pass time. The ranch manager often brought musical companies to Taft for the people's entertainment and besides there was always a constant stream of guest coming to the ranch, such distinguished men as President William Howard Taft."

How fast could the gun-fighters of the old West draw a six-shooter and fire?

It is related that the man known in Western lore as Kid Curry could hold his right hand straight out from his shoulder with a poker chip on it, turn his hand over until the chip fell off, then draw and fire three times before the chip struck the ground.

An experiment shows that it would take a chip six-tenths of a second to fall that distance.

COTTON

Increased industrial activity, full employment, more spending and a bigger population together with the increased demand from the armed services would cause more than 10,000,000 bales of cotton to be consumed in this country in 1951. The Agriculture Department is asking farmers for a crop of at least 16,000,000 bales this year.

ACCIDENT TOLL

The United States experienced its safest year on record in 1950, but accident casualties still outdistanced U. S. losses in the Korean war. The accident toll in the nation for 1950 included: killed, 90,000; injured, 8,900,000. The cost in dollars is estimated at $7,700,000,000, according to the National Safety Council.

BLOOD SUBSTITUTES

The armed forces are building up a stockpile of two substitutes for blood plasma. One is made from sugar and the other from cattle bone. The National Research Council said blood donors are needed as urgently as ever; however, because the substitutes are not wholly satisfactory and are intended for emergency only.

NOTHING NEW

A prehistoric skeleton has been found with its legs locked around its neck. This bears out the belief that the rumble seat is not as new as is claimed for it.

W. H. Upchurch Talked Last Week on Citizenship to the Rotary Club

The following talk was made at the Canyon Rotary Club last Tuesday by W. H. Upchurch. Because of its soundness the entire talk is printed for the benefit of those who did not hear it. The talk follows:

We need leadership in this country as never before. We need the best leadership that is humanly possible to find any where within the borders of our great land. We need the best sober judgment and Divine guidance in selection of our leaders. Even though we fail to select the best among our number as leaders, may we never lose the privilege of selecting.

We need leadership in this country. We also need some fellowship. We need to get rid of some of our bad habits. One of our bad habits grows out of one of our greatest freedoms. The so-called freedom of speech. That freedom which allows us to cuss the umpire and buy another Coca Cola in order to have the bottle to throw. We have drifted into a bad habit of calling the umpire a blind, ignorant, fool, when he fails to call the play as we see it. We often fail to recognize that the umpire just might possibly be standing closer to the play and may be he might have been the one chosen to do the umpiring job. We fail to recognize that standing as he does, very close to the play, he might have a better angle of sight and and that he might see the whole play better than we who are making the noise from the stands. This bad habit of ours which starts as a privilege leads us to the habit of sniping at our public servants in Government.

We elected Woodrow Wilson as our leader in World War I. We refused to follow his leadership. The League of Nations and the chances of World peace died. We elected Mr .Harding. He died. We elected Calvin Coolidge and he did not choose to run again. We elected Herbert Hoover. We sniped at his leadership. We blamed him with the legislative errors of Congress, as well as, the administrative errors of his appointees. Years later we decide that may be he was not as bad as we once thought.

We elected F. D. R. and we backed his leadership for a time. Then cussing the President again became the No. 1 indoor sport of the Nation. In no other country on earth is it safe to condemn and even libel the Chief Executive to the extent that it is done in the United States. Franklin D. Roosevelt is dead, yet today there are columnists being paid for writing stuff designed to condemn the man and vilify his family. We do this sort of thing to the extent that we create the impression abroad that we do not like our system of Government and that we do not have the intelligence to elect, under our system, men who are qualified to govern by the consent of the governed.

The Hoover jokes were not so different from the Truman jokes we hear today. I enjoyed the Hoover jokes. The country was OK then. There was nothing wrong with us except we were victims of some crooked finance cooked up in Wall Street. When we all went broke and went to work and we got some new banking laws passed, we manmanaged to eat and enjoy the privilege of cussing the Umpire again. Today I could enjoy the Truman jokes and the American indoor sport of cussing the Government if we had no more threat to our security than we had when Mr. Hoover was laid on the shelf.

The reason I think this matter is serious now is that our country and our system is not as secure as it was when we were sniping at Mr. Hoover.

A boy at eight years of age can be considered hardly more than a child, yet in only ten years, at age 18, he is considered old enough to die in defense of his country. Just about long enough for us to get on a full war production footing. In that brief time the boy grows up physically and he must develop somewhat in intelligence. What kind of training does this boy of ours get to make him love and appreciate his own country above all others.

What does he hear every day to make him proud he is an American. Oh yes, he hears about the good things, like good automobiles and home conveniencies that folks in some other lands do not possess and he may learn to brag about them, especially if he lives in Texas, but how much actual indoctrination does he get in Americanism? What does he hear on the radio? What does he read when he learns to read his newspaper? How many newspaper editorials does he read that tend to make him proud of our system of Government? Remember this boy of ours is only a child until he is old enough to join the Army. He does not have the mature judgement to deferentiate between constructive criticism of individuals in office or of the current administration, of which we may not approve, and the entire system. Our boy of 8 to 18 must get the impression that our system is so bad that certainly there must be some other system of Government that would be much better. Of course, those of us old enough to belong to the Rotary Club know that most of the griping we hear is just the exercise of that great American privilege of cussing the Umpire. We also know that it runs all the way from real constructive criticism to just plain sour grapes of the "outs" wanting to discredit the "ins". But what of our boy of 8 to 18. He was not here when we elected Woodrow Wilson and then caused him to grieve his heart out because he could not put over a World peace program for lack of support from his own people.

He wasn't here when Texas voted for Herbert Hoover and then laid him on the shelf, none too gently, because he could not control the forces that had more interest in crooked financing than in any sound stabilization of our economy. Who can say what improvements could have been made if he had been given another chance and had received 100% support from every man who voted for him in his first campaign.

Most of our boys of eight to eighteen were born after the late economic depression. They have grown up this far in an age of expanding economy and have learned to take for granted many good things that were not even dreamed possible for most of us at that age. He is likely to have little or no conception of losing a war, and with it our free enterprise system. He is likely to go into the Armed forces with a hazy notion of what he is asked to defend or what it is worth. He is likely to learn, a bit too late, that this next war is not just another adventure of "Hopalong Cassidy". I am frankly afraid that he is going to wonder whether this rotten bunch in Washington that he hears about is worth fighting for and since he has heard little of his government, except that part which is bad, I am wondering whether we can blame him if he says, "What's the use"?

Remember we are making up an army of kids. This army of ours must be a patriotic army if we are to maintain our free enterprise system.

The Russian propaganda machine must surely find a lot of source material in the editorial pages of the American newspapers. They must take great pleasure in tuning in some of our radio condemnators.

How much energy and effort in our National elections is directed toward the election of good, honest, loyal Americans and how much of it is directed towards just trying to throw the "ins" out and helping put the "outs" in.

How much money is spent promoting a candidate for public office who is "regular" and who can be depended on to remember his party even though he forgets his country? How much money is spent trying to promote and elect any man to the presidency who can be depended on to administer the laws of our country without regard to the next election?

What does our boy of eight to eighteen hear when our National election campaigns are on; on the radio, at home or in his church or school? What percentage of current issues without political bias as compared to the space devoted to condemning the men who we elected the last time.

A boy between eight and eighteen is likely to repeat most of the things he hears his Dad say. He will not only pick up what he hears but he, being what he is, will likely do something about it. Whether his action is good or bad is very largely influenced by his association and indoctrination between age eight to eighteen.

Mistakes in Government are of two classes, legislative and administrative. Legislative mistakes are harder to detect than administrative mistakes. Sometimes we forget the administrative branch of our Government is obliged to administer the legislative mistakes of Congress. Sometimes these errors do not show until the administration of the original mistake makes it easy to see. Being mentally lazy most of us prefer to just blame the president or the State Dept. and condemn "Washington" as though Washington was a symbol of Government rather than a location.

I am beginning to wonder whether we ever get better men in Washington by the simple process of cussing those who were elected by the majority. Perhaps we get as good as we deserve. I would be willing to concede that proposition and let the matter rest right there if it were not for the question of our boy of eight to eighteen. If we are going to ask him to help save our system and give a few years of his early life, or may be several years, or may be his whole life, then in that event I claim he is entitled to a break.

In order to give him a break, I propose that we-

1. Organize a campaign to see to it that our boys and girls from eight to eighteen, each and every one, be given a thorough course in American Democracy.

2. Organize a society for the purpose of forcing, by sheer weight of public opinion, not by law, every speaker and every writer to devote as much time and space to extoling the virtues of the American system of Government and the free enterprise system, as he, or she, devotes to criticism of current mistakes of those in the Government who have been elected, or appointed by those who were elected.

Our American standards of living have so far out distanced the rest of the world that we are prone to take it all for granted and some of us act as though somehow we will never be in danger of losing all the good life for which our Father's fought.

We are depleting our National resources in maintaining a luxury standard of living. We are not giving enough thought to the time in the not distant future when this standard will no longer be possible.

We demand a luxury life without being willing to work for it. I honestly believe that we, in Randall county, spend more per capita on transportation and soft drinks than we spent on the total cost of living less than 40 years ago.

I believe it is next to impossible for most of us to realize what would be the difference in our lives if we should lose a war with Russia. We have only to listen to men like David Rasco, who have observed the brutalness of the Oriental to his conquered foe, to give us a picture of what would happen to most of us under Russian rule.

I believe also that it is mighty hard for us to realize that perfection in our leaders is no more possible than is perfection in ourselves. Mistakes have always been made. Some say Adam made a mistake. I wouldn't know. Lot's wife made a mistake. The Prime Minister of England made a mistake in 1939. Napoleon made a mistake, one too many. And I hope Joe Stalin will make the next big mistake. We also hope that our leaders will not make too many mistakes and that we will retain that great American privilege of changing our leadership by the ballot in orderly fashion.

In the meantime would it not be better to support our leaders in every way possible and try to give our boy of eight to eighteen a balanced perspective and the background that will enable him to judge between constructive criticism and reckless condemnation.

In giving our boy of eight to eighteen a course in patriotism or indoctrination in Americanism, if you please, let's try to teach him how to judge between the slanted editorial and honest discussion of issues. Between the radio presentation of facts, or current questions and the ravings of some of our present day radio condemnators who are more interested in sensational half truths sponsored by some vested interest, or a defeated candidate of the "outs" who wants to discredit the "ins".

This bad habit of ours is not confined to the members of any political party or any economic or social group. It is a bad habit that we might well forego until our National security is assured for at least a generation and so far as I am concerned I would like the habit to be suspended entirely in the hope that we might be able to induce better men to go into public life on same basis other than to grab money or prestige.

It seems that a radio condemnator can get more money for sensational ravings and condemnations than he can get for any good honest analysis of current events. The same is true of some columnists who can with little mental effort write smear articles and attract attention to himself. Some of the slanted editorials in the big dailies are an insult to the intelligence of our boy of eighteen. We do some of the craziest things. We make ourselves ridiculous in the eyes of other peoples. We allow a radio program to give away excess profits under the guise of advertising so it can be deducted from income before tax. We even change the name of a town in order to name it for a crazy radio program. Only by our public approval and our indulgence can such things be done.

I have heard several talks lately on citizenship, not counting Rotary programs. I have read many editorials on the same subject, not counting our own weekly newspaper. Many of them seem to think that the writing of a gripe letter to a Congressman constitutes an act of good citizenship. Perhaps that is often true. I am not saying it shouldn't be done. However, I do say that we should offer a constructive criticism for every gripe. When we condemn a mistake we should be able to offer a suggestion for avoidance of similar mistakes in the future. How often do we commend a public official for a job well done? How often do we let our boy hear us condemn our public officials without making it crystal clear that we should be loyal to our American system even though we have only average men in the big jobs in Washington at any given time.

I've had my say - Thank you.

"I got the story on 50,000 Miles-No Wear and changed to New Conoco Super Motor Oil" says J. D. Gladwin, Pontiac Dealer, Clinton, Iowa

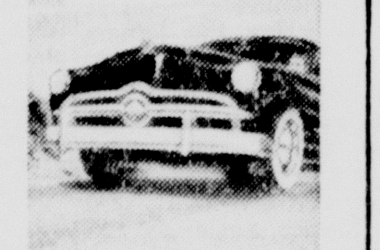
"THE LOWEST OPERATING COST IN 12 YEARS in the Yellow Cab business—that's what we got when we changed to new Conoco Super Motor Oil," reports J. O. Jackson, Owner-Manager, Tyler, Texas. "Our operations are day and night the year around—a tough job for a motor oil. I recommend Conoco Super."
Yellow Cab Co.

"50,000 MILES-NO WEAR!"—PROVED HERE:

After a punishing 50,000-mile road test, with proper crankcase drains and regular care, engines lubricated with new Conoco Super Motor Oil showed no wear of any consequence . . . in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth inch on cylinders and crankshafts.

AND gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles was actually 99.77% as good as for the first 5,000! This test proved that new Conoco Super, with OIL-PLATING, can make your car last longer, use less gasoline and oil.



"AFTER AN OVERHAUL JOB, MY CUSTOMERS who change to Conoco Super Motor Oil have no difficulty driving their cars 50,000 to 75,000 miles without any more work on them," writes R. K. Comstock, Garage Owner, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. "Conoco Super keeps engines clean and cuts way down on wear."

Buffs Lost on Last Road Trip

The Buffalo basketball team closed the season Thursday night at El Paso by defeating the Miners 66-62.

The Buffs had been defeated in two previous games on the mid-western road trip of the Border Conference by both New Mexico University on Tuesday night, and by the New Mexico Aggies at Las Cruces on Wednesday night by a score of 64-58.

The Miners were 11 points in the lead with 10 minutes of the end of the game. From this point, the Buffs got hot and started hitting the basket with regularity, easing ahead of the home team.

The game ended the season for the Buffs in a tie for fourth place in the Conference.

Arizona State of Tucson won the conference title with Texas Tech in second.

Miss Irene Angel has returned from Corpus Christi where she spent two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Frost of Endee, New Mexico, were Sunday visitors in the John Robinson home.

Garden hose, tools, seeds and electric lawn mowers are here. Western Auto.

Position Playoffs Leave City Barber Shop in Top Place

Last weeks playoff games left the City Barber Shop with a good margin of wins at the top of the league; their three game win over second place K Service Station gave them a five game lead over the other eleven teams in the league. The standings as of March 1st, with 24 games of a 60 game schedule played are as follows:

1. City Barber Shop	.833
2. K Service Station	.629
3. Posters Insurance	.629
4. Buffalo Barber Shop	.629
5. K. L. Pond Insurance	.541
6. Lions Club	.500
7. Vocational Aggies	.444
8. Southwestern P. Ser.	.415
9. Johnsons Mens Wear	.375
10. V. F. W.	.333
11. Samulsons Motors	.333
12. Taylor & Sons	.277

The determination of each team was brought out in last weeks competition by the results of the games played and the position each team placed in the standings. With the two top teams battling for the security of first place, second place was a hot bed of competition. K Service, Posters, and Buffalo Barber Shop are all tied up on the second step. Their games tumbled the Lions Club and Ponds down fifth and sixth place. Taylors lost three to Samuelsons and are again holding up the league from the bottom step. All other teams managed to hold their berth in the standings.

This weeks games will bring together City Barber Shop and Buffalo Barber Shop, Fosters and Vocational Aggies, Samuelsons Motors and Taylors. These last two will be out to better their standings and get out of the celler. Thursday will bring K Service Station and Ponds together, SWPS and Lions, Johnsons and V. F. W.

Individual standings have increased a little but the top men are still Evans, Carter and Schmidt. Joe Gidden and Alvin McDonald are coming into the picture; the pressure of the next few weeks should bring new faces in the upper bracket.

Two men have dropped from the bowling league due to their call to service — Bill Hall and R. P. Wilson, both members of the K. Service Station team. The Business Mens Bowling League wish them well.

Haynes Holds Leads in Business Womens Bowling League

Ruth Haynes still holds the lead in the fight for high score with her average of 130.4 with Alice McGehee following close behind; several other players trailing closely behind.

The team standings are as follows:

John Deere Won 11, lost 4 to stay in first place, with Cole & McGahey and Campus Beauty Shop in second place with 7 won and 8 lost; Taylor & Sons and Ponds in third place with 6 won and 9 lost, with H. R. Floral in a close fourth with 5 won and 10 lost.

The league is getting more interesting as each team is trying harder to nose out the strong first place John Deere team and take that spot for itself. Each player is showing more interest as the games become more closely matched since the players have had more experience and becoming better bowlers.

When Nasty Colds Leave You WEAK AND RUNDOWN HADACOL CAN HELP

If Your System Lacks Vitamins B_1, B_2, Niacin and Iron, Which HADACOL Contains

When a nasty cold leaves you in a weakened and run-down condition, HADACOL can help build you up if your system is lacking in Vitamins B_1, B_2, Niacin and Iron, important elements contained in HADACOL. Many folks have found that this fine family formula helps overcome these deficiencies and soon they feel good again.

Mrs. A. Jiminez, 141 East 13th St., Port Arthur, Texas, gave HADACOL to her young son, Floyd, after he had recovered from a bad cold when she heard how HADACOL was helping folks suffering from deficiencies of Vitamins B_1, B_2, Niacin and Iron. It helped him so much in regaining his strength and energy that Mrs. Jiminez says she is always going to have HADACOL on hand for Floyd.

Here is Mrs. Jiminez's statement:

"My son Floyd was very subject to colds. He's eleven years old, and he was run-down, didn't seem to have an appetite at all, and just simply lacked energy. I heard about HADACOL on the radio, and it was about this time that Floyd was just recovering from a siege of a bad cold.

He was very run-down, lacked an appetite, and I started giving him HADACOL. After about a bottle and a half I could notice an improvement. His appetite picked up and he had increased strength. I think HADACOL has done wonders for Floyd, and can't praise it enough. I have continued to give him HADACOL and intend to always have it on hand for Floyd."

Floyd Jiminez

Men, women and children of all ages are praising HADACOL for supplying Vitamins B_1, B_2, Niacin and Iron which their systems lacked. Don't let that "After-Cold Run-down Feeling" drag you down—HADACOL can help you, too, if you suffer such deficiencies.

Sold on a strict money-back guarantee. You'll feel great after the first few bottles you take or your money back. Trial size, $1.25; large family economy size, $3.50.

Announcement that the wage freeze has been relaxed to permit merit raises for the nation's workers certainly warranted big type. Imagine a government that has been encouraging non-production through shorter hours, and equal pay to all workers regardless of ability, finally recognizing MERIT.

Although the modern housewife may be fresh out of coffee cream for the breakfast table, she is sure to have a dozen varieties of another kind on her dressing table.

William McChesney Martin, Assistant Treasury Secretary, almost surely will be moved up to Secretaryship of the Treasury if John Snyder decides to resign at some time in the next year to accept an offer in private finance. Mr. Snyder will stay on as Secretary so long as Mr. Truman insists, and his successor will be someone who agrees with him on need for continuating stable and low rates of interest.

UMBARGER JR. 4-H CLUB LEARNS TO CUT PATTERNS

Tuesday, February 20, was the date of the last meeting of the Umbarger Junior 4-H Club. After the meeting was called to order the group sang the 4-H song.

Following their decision to make dresses, the girls learned how to place and cut patterns. Miss Patterson showed the girls slides of the 4-H girls who went to College Station.

Attending the meeting were Margaret Friemel, Bernice Grabber, Helen Raef, Cecilia Friemel, Elaine Batenhorst, Charlene Friemel, Estella Friemel, Dorothy Skarke Joyce Friemel, Sylvia Raef, Mary Buecker, Shirley Albracht, Betty Hoffman, Elizabeth Beckman, Mary Fischbacker, and Mary Ann Kline, a new member, Mrs. Max Hoffman, leader, and Miss Patterson.

Senator Fulbright, although an Arkansas Democrat and now a strong Administration man on most policies, has learned that Mr. Truman doesn't forget. In 1946, Senator Fulbright suggested that Mr. Truman should resign after Democratic defeat in the November elections of that year. Now the President says publicly that the Senator's ideas about the RFC he is investigating are "asinine."

Maurice Tobin, Secretary of Labor, is very much on the outside looking in when issues of labor policy now are decided. Charles Brannan, Secretary of Agriculture, soon can expect to be in much the same position. Charles Wilson, as Mobilization Director, is taking over many powers that Cabinet officers had exercised.

John Snyder, Treasury Secretary, dissuaded President Truman from sending a rather sharp letter to Thomas McCabe, Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, that might have led to Mr. McCabe's resignation. The President wrote the letter during the heat of the squabble between the Treasury and FRB over interest rates.

Mr. Truman is inclined to link his own political future with that of Senator Robert Taft, of Ohio. If the President becomes convinced that Repubilcans will nominate Senator Taft, then he will be tempted to seek another term. If he sees signs that Republicans think in terms of an Eisenhower draft, then Mr. Truman will be inclined to try to woo Eisenhower to the Democratic fold, hoping thereby to keep the Democrats in power.

Ruth Clark, re-education specialist: "The stutterer often suffers from inner conflict: when relaxed he has no trouble speaking."

Success of Vaccine For TB Attested By Exhibit for AMA

CLEVELAND, O.—Dr. Andrew F. Ivy of the Chicago Research Foundation demonstrated in an exhibit before the American Medical Association recently how vaccination against tuberculosis, long a subject of much controversy among specialists, is proving itself all over the world.

The type of vaccination, known as BCG, after the French scientists by whom it was devised, now is being tested by the public health service.

In several well controlled studies the research institute asserts, "it has been found that BCG vaccination decreases by approximately 80 per cent those who contract the disease and who die of it."

The principle, it was explained, is very similar to that of smallpox vaccination. The vaccine is made from an organism which produces a mild form of cattle tuberculosis. It is harmless to man but sets up a resistance to more virulent types of the bacillus.

More than 50 million vaccinations have been performed since 1921. There has never been a proved case, it is asserted, of tuberculosis developing as a result of the vaccination.

A committee of tuberculosis experts of the world health organization, a U. N. affiliate, has recommended that between 15 and 20 million persons all over the world be vaccinated in the next few years. Thirty million have already been vaccinated in Japan and other millions in Europe.

The disease, it is stressed, still kills about 50,000 Americans each year. There are now about one million active cases in the country and it still is the leading cause of death from disease between the ages of 15 and 44.

Experts Are Seeking Ways To Increase Farm Workers

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A shortage of farm hands in 1951 has been predicted by some agriculture experts. As a result, congressional farm officials called on the government to attempt to find ways of increasing the number for laborers in 1951.

A number of congressional leaders want to "cut" immigration "red tape" to make it easier to bring foreign workers into the country for season employment as one means of meeting the shortage.

Allowance Will Aid Child To Develop Responsibility

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Dr. Luther E. Woodward, consultant for the National Association of Mental Health, believes it is important for children to have a regular allowance. He says it helps children to develop a sense of responsibility.

"It is important for children to assume growing responsibility in the family circle, and to have a feeling of confidence in their own ability to make decisions and try new things. They should learn to know the value of money, and be responsible for the consequences if they spend the whole allowance the first day and have no money the rest of the week," he said.

He suggested that allowance be expanded as a child grows into teens so that it would include certain clothing.

City parents, he pointed out, have greater difficulty developing a sense of responsibility in children than farm families, where a child learns to work along with the father or mother at an age when the city child is being completely cared for.

Telephone Prattling Teen Agers Almost Cause Tragedy

MADISON, Wis.—The kind of telephone manners not to have was demonstrated recently in Madison. Two prattling teen agers almost cost a 6-year-old boy his life.

The boy's mother said her son started hemorrhaging violently as result of a recent tonsillectomy. She tried to call the doctor and police, but two young girls were monopolizing the party line.

"I explained it was an emergency, but they laughed and kept on talking," she said. "When they finally stopped talking and I tried to dial, they would dial, too. It took half an hour for me to reach the doctor."

The boy had a narrow escape, but doctors say he is all right now.

Pawn Shop Offers Violinist $10 for His Stradivarius

OMAHA, Neb.—An anxious man, apparently down on his luck, entered Isadore Goldstein's pawnshop and handed him a violin.

"How much will you give me? I gotta get to Pittsburgh," the man said.

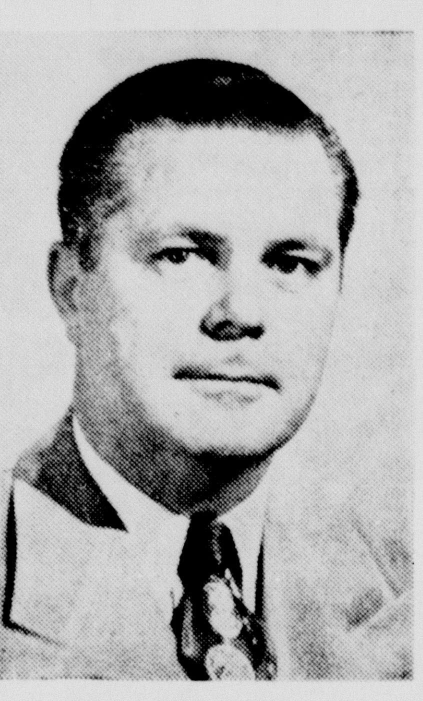
"Ten dollars," said Goldstein.

The "customer" put the violin back in the case and stalked out. Then Goldstein learned that he was violinist David Rubinoff and the violin was a Stradivarius valued at $100,000.

A reporter who was on hand to see what happened explained to the startled Goldstein that the whole thing was a gag thought up by another newspaperman.

Some people get the point too soon and therefore never learn anything.

Tulia Pastor To Speak in Canyon



Rev. W. Neil Record, new pastor of the Baptist Church in Tulia will be one of the five speakers in the revival for men and boys at First Baptist Church in Canyon, March 18-25, sponsored by the deacons. Mr. Record began his work at the Tulia church on February 1st, coming from the position of Business Manager of Grand Canyon College in Arizona. He came from Arizona to Wayland College in Plainview several years ago and graduated there with the first group to receive degrees from Wayland after it became a 4-year school. Mr. Record will be heard in Canyon on invitation of G. B. Heath, chairman of the committee to secure speakers for the revival being conducted for men and boys, according to report of Pastor Roy L. Johnson.

Panhandle Interest In Bills Pending Before Legislature

State Representative Morris G. Cobb reports as follows:

The task of Senatorial redistricting was largely completed this week when the House of Representatives concurred in Senate Bill 1, as passed by the Senate two weeks ago. The measure creates a new Senatorial district in the Central Plains area as Senatorial District 30. It contains Deaf Smith, Armstrong, Donley, Collingsworth, Parmer, Castro, Swisher, Briscoe, Hall, Childress, Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, and Motley Counties.

The present Senatorial District 31 would be reduced to include the following Counties: Potter, Randall, Carson, Oldham, Gray, Wheeler, Hemphill, Roberts, Hutchinson, Moore, Hartley, Lipscomb, Ochiltree, Hansford, Sherman and 'Dallam. Consequently there will be an opening in the Central Plains area for a brand new Panhandle Senator. All of the redistricting problems, however, have not yet been solved. The next on the agenda is Congressional redistricting. Under the 1950 federal census Texas is entitled to another Congressman, increasing its representation to 22 members in the U. S. House of Representatives. Several plans have been submitted to provide for this additional Congressman, but it is unlikely that the Panhandle will be materially changed. A fourth redistricting proposal would reshuffle the Judicial Districts of the entire state in order to provide a more equitable distribution of district court work throughout the state.

The Water Code met its first test in the Committee on Conservation and Reclamation and suffered a tentative setback after three days of heated opposition. This opposition was led by the Rio Grande and West Texas delegations. Rep. LaFont of Plainview was made Chairman of the Sub-Committee to which the Water Code has been referred.

Three gas minimum price bills will be aired before the Committee on Oil, Gas and Mining on Wed. afternoon, March 7th. This hearing was postponed from February 28th to March 7th as a result of numerous requests from interested parties in the Panhandle. The Bills under consideration are House Bills 44, 99, and 180.

DEMOCRACY IN ACTION

March 4-10 has been proclaimed Texas Public School Week by Governor Allan Shivers. Perhaps its principal purpose is to emphasize the importance of schools, thereby attaining resultant betterment of educational systems.

Schools are important to the American people in several ways. First, public schools provide knowledge enough to enable self-support in later life. This is brought about by the wide variety of courses in school curricula. A general knowledge of several vocations, obtained through such vocational courses as agriculture, manual training, typing, bookkeeping, and home economics, make the student capable of a wiser choice of permanent profession.

Next, a good education, which is most usually obtained through a democratic public school, empowers its holder to be a well-informed person. Those persons who have had such practical courses as English, civics, economics, and history are more capable of understanding what they read than those who have not. This makes possible a correct interpretation of current events.

Perhaps the most important thing about public school education is that it reduces prejudice and increases ability in distinguishing between the races and prepares students to cope with problems which will face them — problems of what principles to adhere to and of what is right or wrong.

This week, during which the importance of public schools is being stressed, it would be fitting for each student, parent, and patron to become more acquainted with the school system, and to make a more determined effort toward educational improvement and advancement.

Canyon Schools Then and Now

In the fifty-five years that Canyon has had state schools, much progress has been made. Randall County had six school districts in 1898, the largest being the Canyon City district with 73 children of school age and two teachers. There were but 134 children of school age in Randall County.

The permanent location was chosen and a two story brick building containing eight rooms was erected on the site of the present grade school building. Graduation was held in this building for the first time in 1902. The present high school building was erected in 1923 and the present grade school building in 1925.

With the consolidation of sixteen Randall County school districts in 1948, the enrollment of the Canyon schools soared to the present figure of 982, thirteen times the enrollment of 1898.

Advantages of a large well organized school over the small school of 1898 are: the variety of subjects and opportunities now offered, the excellent equipment, and the well trained teachers.

Schools in Canyon now cost $300 a year per high school student compared to $648 used to run the entire Canyon City school a whole year in 1898. Fifty-four teachers are now employed at the present time.

GRANDPA DROVE HORSES STUDENTS DRIVE CARS

Times have changed since Pop's or Grandpa's days. Then when they took their girls courting, they could just drop the reins over the dashboard and Dobbin would plod on down the road. Now when a boy takes his girl out he has to keep his hands on the steering wheel.

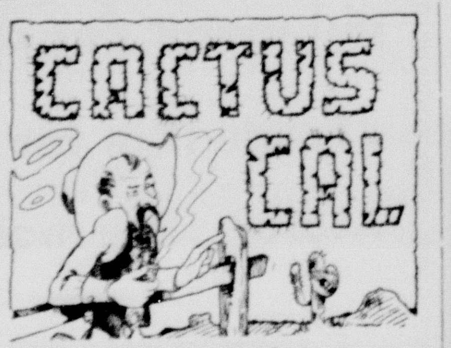
Because driving methods have changed, a Driver's Education course is offered in our school. Students who successfully complete the course are eligible to take State Driver's License tests.

Canyon FFA Boy Has Champion Pig

Judged Reserve Breed Champion in the heavy duroc class at the Amarillo Fat Stock Show, February 27, was a hog belonging to 3 year member of the Canyon FFA, Lowell Hill.

Other honors at Amarillo included second place in the light duroc class, third in the pen of three, and first in the pig litters.

Previously his pigs had taken five places at the Canyon Fat Stock Show, February 24. He had the Grand Champion Barrow, first place in the heavy duroc class, fourth place in the light duroc class, first in litters, and first in the pen of three.



Yes, times have changed! You hear people talking about "the good old days", but Cal wonders where they get that "good" compared with the days of today. Take the change in our schools for instance.

Most of your mothers and fathers talk of walking to school in freezing weather, rain and snow. Today, for students who live some distance from school, busses pick them up and return them after dismissal of school. Who could complain about that?

And then there's the difference in teaching methods. Now the teacher and his pupils work together like a team with a job to complete. People who taught "way back when" tried to "pound" knowledge into the pupil's head, whether he wanted it or not.

Mom and Dad can probably tell you about how inconvenient school houses were when you finally reached them! Old stoves had to be stoked and wood brought in. In extremely cold weather they probably shivered all day inside the inadequate school buildings. No more of that! Now-days furnaces heat school houses to just the right temperature, no wood to be brought in, no ashes to be removed! Can you think of anything better?

Only subjects such as spelling, grammar, arithmetic, and a few others were taught. Now one can take homemaking, industrial arts, farm engineering, shop, and many others to help in your later life.

Cal thinks that from the improvement in the school system that we should talk of the "good new days", not the "good old days."

I Am Education

by

J. E. Miller

Since the public schools are being maintained at public expense for the purpose of better fitting our young people for their respective stations in our society, let us ponder the words entitled "I Am Education," author unknown.

"I bear the torch that enlightens the world, fires the imagination of men, feeds the flame of genius! I give wings to dreams and might to hand and brain!

"From out of the deep shadows of the past I come, wearing the scars of struggles and the stripes of toil, but bearing aloft in the triumph the wisdom of all the ages.

"Man, because of me, holds dominion over earth, air and sea. It is for him I leash the lightning, plumb the deep and shackle the ether.

"I am the parent of progress, creator of culture, molder of destiny. Philosophy, science and art are the works of my hand. I banish ignorance, discourage vice, disarm anarchy.

"Thus have I become freedom's citadel, the arm of democracy, the hope of youth, the pride of adolescence, the joy of age. Fortunate the nations and happy the homes that welcome me.

"The school is my workshop; here I stir ambition, stimulate ideals, forge the keys that open the doors of opportunity. I am the source of inspiration — the aid of aspiration.

"I am irrestible power — I AM EDUCATION!"

Students are you going to take advantage of your time at school to study and at home to help lighten the burden your parents have shouldered to give you a chance to get at least a high school education? Think it over.

Eaglettes Cop Third Place

The Canyon High School Eaglettes copped the third place trophy at the regional meet held at McLean, March 1, 2 ,and 3, while the Dalhart Wolverines won second place and the McLean Tigerettes won first place and the right to represent this region at the state meet, which will be held at Austin.

Playing the Spur team in the initial game, Thursday night, the girls won an easy victory, the final score reading 37-19. The Eaglettes held the lead throughout the game. Tysene Cox took high scoring honors with 16 points.

Returning Friday night, the Eaglettes met the favored Dalhart Wolverines in a close, exciting game. In the early minutes of the game, the Canyon offensive netted the first four points, and held the lead throughout the first quarter which ended with the Eaglettes ahead 16-7. The Wolverines came from behind in the second quarter and snatched a two-point lead over the Canyon team. The half-time score read 23-21. Dalhart gained a more substantial lead in the two remaining quarters, when the Eaglettes could not get started again. The game ended with a final score of: Dalhart 47, Canyon 34. Pat Ford and Tysene Cox paced the Eaglettes scoring with 13 points each, while Barbara Glanton netted 8 .

The losing of the Dalhart game put the Eaglettes in the battle for third place against Lockney, Saturday night. The Eaglettes took the game, to the tune of 42-29. Tysene Cox was again high scorer, with 22 points, while Ford scored 10, and Glanton had 8 points to her credit.

Barbara Glanton, Patsy Priddy, and Barbara McDougal placed on the all-regional team. Graduating from the team this year are Lorayne Carter and Barbara McDougal, the co-captains of the team.

Finds New York Big, Interesting

By James Miller

Yes, it's big, but when we arrived in New York at 4:30 on a cold (10 below) morning, by T. W. A. Constellation, it seemed endless, the lights of the city appeared to stretch from one horizon to the other. Once on the ground we were whisked to the Commodore Hotel where we were to stay by one of the thousands of New York taxis. This hotel, located just across the elevator from Grand Central Station, a small city in itself, furnished, with its battery of subways, an easy mode of transportation to almost any place in the city. We were conveyed on these to many of the points of interest we took in while there — Rockeller Center, the Empire State Building, the Museum of Natural History, the Planetarium, and many others. During our visit we were also privileged to visit the United Nations and to observe its operation. So, having heard many brilliant speakers and seen many interesting sights, we boarded the train for home, ready to dig in once more.

Poodles Down Juniors 35-33

Winding up the regular schedule, Borger shaded the Canyon Junior High team 35-33 Monday, February 26, at Borger.

Roy Haley provided the spark for the Poodles with 14 points. Ed Money and Bill Pond shared laurels for Canyon with 9 points each.

The final loss gave the Canyon five a league record of six wins and eight losses. They stand in sixth place.

Pictured are the Canyon High School Eaglettes, who won third place at the regional meet, March 1, 2, and 3.

Pirates Drop Eagles 33-32

Canyon Eagles, Region 1-A champions and 1950 State Champs of Class A, entered the state tourney at Austin March 1, and were defeated in their first game by the Sinton Pirates, 33-32.

Canyon jumped to an 8-1 lead early in the game, and was ahead 9-3 at the end of the first quarter. By half-time Sinton had narrowed the margin to 2 points, Canyon leading 17-15. At third period end the Eagles led 26-23.

Then Sinton edged ahead 30-29 with 3 minutes 15 seconds left in the final quarter. Bob Busteed recaptured the lead for the Eagles by sinking 2 free throws, and Sinton's Glen Dyer thumped in a field goal to make the score 32-31 in Pirate favor. Eagle Billy Morton tied the score 32-32 by a free toss with one minute to play. Pirates' Danny Sharp, a substitute, tallied a charity goal after being fouled by Canyon's Bob Ratliff; score read 33-32. Sinton hero Sharp then fouled Morton, who missed his free shot and the chance for an overtime period in the game.

High-point Eagle was Ratliff with 10 tallies. The game was the Eagle's eighth loss to 29 wins during the season.

Juniors Win Bovina Tournament

Scoring a 45-32 win over the Bovina A team, the Canyon Junior High team swept through the Bovina tournament with four straight wins March 1-3.

In the first game the Canyon quintet clipped the Hereford team. They advanced to the semifinals against Happy with a win over the Bovina B team.

After overrunning the Happy five Canyon took the final game with the thirteen point margin. Ed Money was high point man in the finals with 17 points. Ruthart followed closely with 14.

At the end of the tournament Arlen Ruthart of Canyon was named on the all-tournament team.

Although the Canyon team finished only sixth in the Junior High School league, they ended the season with a record of ten wins to eight losses.

Democracy Slogan In Essay Contest

"The Public School-Democracy in Action" was the slogan for a locally sponsored essay contest in observance of Public Schools Week, March 4-10 inclusive. Open to all students of Canyon High, the contest offered three prizes: first-$3, second-$2, and third-$1. Aside from essays, window displays could be entered which portrayed democratic principles fostered in public schools of growth of community public school education. Posters of democratic idea were also eligible for competition.

Moe Is Average; Enjoys Learning

Moe Lernin, a typical high school student, is a senior in Notsodum High School. Even though he is a senior, he has not lost any of the enthusiasm he had when he entered high school some four years ago.

He wakes up each Monday morning with a renewed spirit and a glowing interest in the school he dearly loves. His personal greeting to each teacher, "If there's anything I can do to help you, just let me know," on his arrival at school, puts him in an even better mood.

Truthfulness and honor are also among Moe's better qualities. If his assignments are not prepared, he tells the truth instead of saying, "I left them at home," like so many of the other students do.

Moe believes in doing what is right for his school; helping to keep it clean, uphold it with his presence, being courteous to the teachers, and above all, making his school a pleasant place in which to be.

Of course, being a typical high school student, Moe has his dislikes about school. He just sticks to his studies, however, and he gets along fine.

Take a hint from Moe.

The Importance of Schools Like CHS

Every student at one time or another has said, "I wonder when the ball and chain is going to be installed," or perhaps some similar statement to this. We talk about the strictness of the teachers, or the heavy studying required, or some other "gripe." Only seldom is the importance of schools like Canyon High emphasized.

Each and every boy and girl attending a public school in America has the right to make these statements, and their views will not get a noose around their necks. Communistic views do not enter into our classes; we may read the literature we please by any author, not particularly articles written by a typical Joseph Stalinsky. While schools in foreign countries limit the knowledge taught to their baised beliefs, the students attending the American democratic public schools are taught "readin', writin', and 'rithmatic" on a well-rounded scale.

Our school system might not be perfect, but remember this, the students attending are not perfect either. The importance of the American public schools can not be over-rated. When you start wondering how much harder school can get, then is the time to wonder how it would be without free, public schools at all.

Miller Heads NHS

At a business meeting of the National Honor Society Friday, February 23, the following officers were elected to serve the remainder of this school year: James Miller, president; Richard Sanders, vice-president; Joyce Payne, secretary; and Barbara McDougal, treasurer.

School Athletics Available for All

Imagine that each boy on the Eagle team had to pay approximately $50 for his own transportation, food, equipment, and lodging at State Tourney in Austin. That is pretty expensive business.

Today our boys and girls may go out for sports in our public schools at almost no personal cost. In the case of Canyon's soaring Eagles, the team journeys to Austin in one of the school's busses which is insured under State laws. Each boy's expenses are paid by the school. He is literally given the trip.

Texas' public schools have made possible our excellent athlethic program. One no longer needs a fat little roll of dollar bills to pay for equipment and traveling as when our parents played on ball teams. By absorbing personal expenses, public schools facilitate worthwhile events such as State Basketball Tournament, and bring better coaching to the athletes of CHS.

Here is just one more reason why Canyon High is indebted to the Public School System of Texas.

Schools Are Not The Same Now

Times have changed quite a bit since the fathers and mothers of the present public school students went to school. Reading, writing, and arithmetic are still here, but many new subjects have been added. Fully equipped laboratories for chemistry and biology are something new since Dad's school days.

Students can acquire a much better preparation for their life's work than was possible twenty years ago. Supervised programs in vocational agriculture make potential farmers better prepared to meet the problems they will face when they graduate from high school.

Better tools and machinery in the average high school shop department gives the students a chance to add diversity to the schedule of subjects. In addition, boys planning to continue in some phase of woodwork after high school will have a good start towards the goal they must have of a neat workman.

Euclid's Royal Road Has Golden Reward

Long ago when a certain Egyptian king sought an easy and quick key to geometry, the Greek philosopher Euclid reportedly told his pupil, "There is no royal road to geometry."

2,250 years later the same case remains. No one has been able to produce a simple system of geometry, although new theorems and proofs are constantly found. High school students still "suffer" through the long, agonizing course and wonder what profit can possibly be derived from hours of headaches spent solving problems.

Geometry, however, is invaluable in many lines of work: surveying, drafting, engineering, and architecture. Like any math, its most important function is enabling us to find unknown quantities, which is, in itself, a miracle.

Public schools of today offer capable guidance in the mathematical puzzler, geometry. No matter what career students choose, they have learned the value of logic and reasoning, a gift which they can never lose.

Special Education

Enrolled in the Special Education course are thirty pupils, grades one through seven.

Special Education has nothing to do with mentally retarded children and it is not remedial. No child is forced into taking the course. It is a laboratory study offered for the purpose of correcting difficulties which may handicap the child and prevent his learning to the fullest extent.

The Texas State Department of Education bulletin says that "the State Department of Education has interpreted the law on Special Education to include children with deficient vision, deficient hearing, orthopedic handicaps, speech disorders, lowered vitality, nervous disorders."

Children who have lisps, palate troubles, misplaced teeth, difficulties sounding vowels, stigmatism, crossed eyes, paralysis, partial deafness, palsy, or any of several handicaps are included.

This new course is offered to any scholastic one period daily. Mrs. Gladys Dixon, teacher, says, "The pupils first had the idea it was something they did not want to get mixed up in; now everyone wants to come."

Of the total enrolled eighteen come to Mrs. Dixon for speech corrections. She helps these individually. While one pupil may practice tongue placements before a mirror, another will practice sounding vowels by using picture cards. Jingles and rhymes are valuable aides; reading stories from books printed in large type give the pupil practice in pronouncing much used words as well as improving the nearsighted reader.

Two Special Education pupils are home visiting cases whom Mrs. Dixon tutors privately each school day.

Mrs. Dixon is qualified for teaching the course because of previously teaching primary, elementary, and intermediate grades and holding a valid certificate. Last summer she attended a clinic for handicapped children and is at the present time taking a special course designed to help her in teaching pupils with deficient hearing.

Canyon Honors School Week

To center attention on the Texas public school is the purpose of the Public School Week set aside by Governor Allan Shivers. The week beginning Sunday, March 4, is to emphasize the importance of Texas Public School Systems.

In Canyon the hope is to create a growing understanding not only between the teacher and the parent but the student as well. Too many absences and tardies have been reported in the Canyon school district. With a well organized relationship between the home and the school, high attendance record goals could be set.

Texas schools rank twelfth in national standing; however, since the Gilmer-Aiken law has been passed and put into action, the standing may have progressed upward. Better teaching equipment in more modern schools with more and better teachers who have higher educations are provided under this law. Texas can continue to back the schools. As a motto for Canyon, why not "Get behind your child, your school, and the teacher and push forward."

Happier Student Belongs to Clubs

Social activities fostered in the public schools are desirable democratic organizations which encourage high ideals and good citizenship. These activities are sponsored by dependable instructors.

Since sororities and fraternities were banned from all Texas public schools, clubs such as FHA, FFA, and 4-H have done marvelous work in preparing students for future vocations, in developing the student into a reliable personality as well as employing the student's leisure time worthwhile. It gives the student outside interest which results in a more adjusted, happier student working on projects which improve ability and offer a chance to gain practical experience.

Parents who have students belonging to such organizations will notice improvements in the student in that he feels as if "he belongs" and "has somewhere to go."

Hobby Series Features L. T. Campbells

The Canyon Association of American University Women presents the L. T. Campbells as a fifth representative in its family hobbies series. The Roger Whealys, Bill Wilsons, Sidney Burgesses, and Herschel Jennings have preceded them in these accounts of interesting home projects. The L. T. Campbells are busy farm folks, but find time for a little woodburning, painting, crocheting, and leather stamping. Jack, age 12, and Carolyn,age 9, have both worked with woodburning. For his grandmother, Jack made a cutting board. In the center of a large piece of ply board he burned and painted a pretty Spanish picture; he then gave the board several coats of Plax: the front makes a nice bit of decoration, and the back a good cutting board. Carolyn has not attempted such detailed work with woodburning, but has taken on a different hobby of her own in embroidering cup towels.

Jack has been quite successful in stamping leather belts and bill folds.

In the summer the Campbells look forward to escaping the heat by going to their good cool basement and working on their hobbies. Mrs. Campbell's most prized possession is a figurine she painted. She had a piece of old lace from her mother's wedding dress; she used this as a panel on the figurine's dress, which makes it quite decorative and gives a permanent finish to the lace. Mrs. Campbell also enjoys crocheting. She enjoys doing things for other people. She and the children find great pleasure in their woodburning, leather work, painting, and embroidering. In their home they have pretty things of their own making, and through their thoughtfulness and generosity others have been made happier. All of them wish they could find more time to spend with their delightful hobbies.

If you've ever been overseas you can testify that one can get as drunk on water as on liquor.

Statehouse
by HUGH WILLIAMSON

Muh of the Legislature's work is done in committees, but comparatively few Texans have ever attended one of these committee hearings.

Persons who are interested, however, frequently come to express themselves about proposed laws that affect them.

I would like to describe one committee hearing, to give some idea as to how they work, and what the results are.

The other night, for example, the Senate Highways and Motor Traffic Committee heard witnesses for and against House Bill 11, which provides that trucks found to be overloaded must unload on the spot.

The House of Representatives had already passed the bill, with an amendment providing that if the load consists of livestock, the truck may proceed to the next place with facilities to take care of the animals.

A large number — perhaps 400 — attended the Senate committee hearing. Many of these were truck operators. Others were dairymen and fruit growers, who depend upon trucks to haul for them.

At the request of members of the committee, Col. Homer Garrison, director of the Department of Public Safety; and Robert J. Potts, a member of the Highway Commission, were present to answer questions.

Railroad and truck associations represented.

After hearing a number of witnesses, the committee adopted two amendments to the bill. These would:

1. Give trucks a leeway, or "tolerance allowance" of five per cent of the gross weight or ten per cent of the axle weight. Texas law now provides for a gross truck weight of 48,000 pounds and an axle load of 18,000 pounds.

2. Permit the driver to unload only enough to make the correction in case of axle load violation without gross load violation. Or he could rearrange his load to make the correction ,if possible, without unloading.

The committee then passed the bill with the amendments.

Other amendments were offered, but they were tabled, which means that they will not be a part of the bill as it goes to the floor of the Senate.

When the bill gets on the Senate floor, it is possible that other amendments may be offered. What happens is entirely up to the Senators — they can defeat the bill if they want to, send it back to the committee, send it to another committee, or simply forget it.

Let's say that the Senate passes the bill with amendments.

Then it will have to go back to the House of Representatives for approval (concurrence is the parliamentary word) of the Senate amendments. When the House concurs in the Senate amendments, then the bill is finally passed and ready for the governor's signature — or veto.

But if the House does not concur in the Senate amendments, then the bill must go to a joint committee of House and Senate members to work out some kind of a compromise.

The bill can be finally passed if both houses accept the report of the joint committee.

To those unfamiliar with the workings of the Legislature, the process may seem long and complex — but that's the way it is done.

The idea is — as envisioned by the founders of our state government — that bills ought to receive full discussion, long and careful consideration, before they become laws that govern the lives and activities of citizens.

It Is Now Time to Start Campaign on Common House Fly

Millions of flies help to cause illness and death of thousands of children and adults each year in the United States. Hundreds of these casualties may be in Texas this year if residents fail in their responsibility for developing the best possible sanitation measures in the area where they reside. Typhoid fever, summer complaint and other intestinal diseases can be traced to the common housefly as the carrier of the infection.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, speaking in this connection, recently said, "Be sure that windows and doors are tightly screened so that stray flies from a careless neighbor will not endanger your family. Be sure that flies are kept away from food, drink and utensils used in the preparation of food. Make sure, if you live in rural districts, that outside privy vaults are tightly covered so as not to permit the entrance of flies.

"Infections from this source can be picked up and spread to human beings through contact with food, drink and utensils. Keep all garbage covered until collected or buried. Eliminate all breeding places for flies and you will be helping your community in its work of controlling communicable diseases and preventing unnecessary illness."

Now is the time to do away with the winter's accumulation of trash. Clean up and stay clean is a good slogan for communities and individual citizens.

More Respect Please

It sounds too good really to be true, but my friend claims it did happen.

He was lounging in this tavern, watching television, of course, when a man came up beside him.

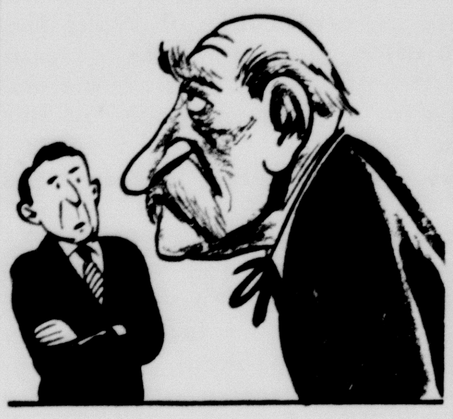
"What'll it be? the barkeep asked.

"Oh," the guy said, being coy about it all, "tall, cold and full of gin."

With that, a fellow one stool over who had had maybe one too many pulled himself erect.

"Sir," he hiccuped, "I'll have you know you're talking about the woman I love."

PRETTY LATE



Funeral Director: "How old are you, sir?"

Aged Mourner: "I'm 98."

Funeral Director: "Hardly worth going home, is it?"

No Justice

A taxi driver whose meter registered twenty cents received just that amount from a prosperous looking customer.

"That's correct, isn't it?" the customer asked the cabby as he stared at the two dimes.

"It's correct," answered the cabby, "but it ain't right."

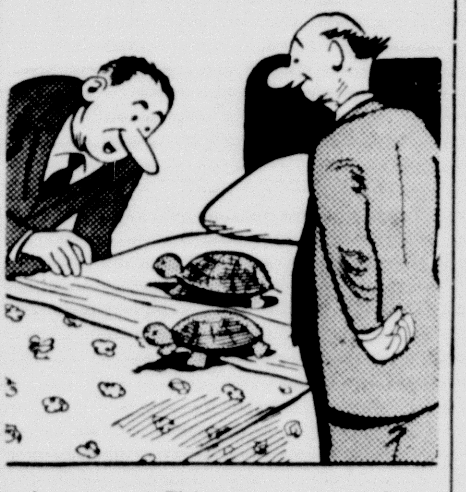
Meow!

The butcher was busy waiting on a customer when a woman rushed in and said, "Give me a pound of cat food, quick!"

Turning to the other customer she said, "I hope you don't mind my getting waited on before you."

"Not if you're THAT hungry," the other woman replied.

NOT IMPRESSED



A group of Chicagoans were showing a visiting Texan the town. "What do you think of our stock yards?" they asked.

"Man, we got brandin' corrals in Texas bigger'n this."

"Well," they asked further, "what do you think of the imposing skyscrapers of the Chicago skyline?"

"Why, man, we got tombstones in Boot Hill bigger than those."

That night they put a brace of snapping turtles in his bed. When he turned down the covers and asked what they were, he was told, "Illinois bedbugs."

He peered at them a moment. "So they are," he agreed. "Young 'uns, ain't they?"

No Rime Nor Reason

Little George's evening was ending up in the usual manner. His mother had ordered him to bed, he had demanded to know why he had to retire so early, and she had told him. Following the usual pattern he had turned to his father.

"Pop," he complained, "women sure are unreasonable!"

Papa watched Mamma out of the corner of his eye, and timidly inquired:

"Why, son?"

"Well," explained the thoughtful youngster, "tonight Mom says, 'George, you are too young to stay up.' Know what she'll say in the morning, Pop? She'll say, Get up, George—You're too big to stay in bed!' You can't win, Pop!"

MORE PUNS

A man was ambling down the main street of a small town when a steam-roller ran over his cat. He never said a word. He just stood there with a long puss.

BOND EXTENSION

A bill to permit holders of Series E. Government bonds to keep them for more than ten years and continue to draw interest is now in the Senate for consideration, having already passed the House. Some $35,000,000,000 worth of Series E bonds are outstanding, the first of which will begin maturing on May 1, ten years after issuance. The interest averages 2.9 per cent if the bonds are held for ten years.

Linked With Polio

NEW YORK — The National Foundation for Infantile paralysis, reports a comprehensive study has provided evidence that children who have their tonsils removed during a polio epidemic run a three-times-greater risk of contracting polio than children who had not undergone the operation.

The evidence also revealed that in children undergoing a tonsil operation the risk of contracting the bulbar type of polio, the type that kills by paralyzing the respiratory centers, is 11 times greater than in children whose tonsils had not been removed during the epidemic.

The studies were based on a statistical survey of the heavy polio epidemic in Minnesota in 1946.

Last Son Receives Mother's Approval To Return to Combat

INGLEWOOD, Calif.—Mrs Glen B. Peterson, a full blooded Cherokee, has given permission for her son to go back into battle.

Her son, T-Sgt. Robert J. Ward, was taken out of combat as a sole surviving son on his mother's plea to Gen. Clifton Gates. But Ward wrote to her, pleading with her to "free me to help my boys" in the platoon he led north out of Inchon.

"They placed their faith in me and I promised them I'd bring them back alive," he said in his letter. "Whenever I led, I brought them back and now someone else leads them. I know they need me. Maybe in a sense I need them, my dirty, stinking and loyal platoon."

Mrs. Peterson's eldest son, Frank, was killed when an air force B-29 plunged into the sea off Saipan. Her second son, Ernest, was killed in the marine assault on Iwo Jima.

Robert, her youngest son, had served as a navy aerial gunner in World War II. When he was called to active duty with other marine reservists and shipped to Korea, Mrs. Peterson wrote a letter to Cates, asking that Robert be taken out of combat.

Orders were drafted for the youth to be transferred to a rear area in Japan. Ward intercepted the orders and carried them in his pocket as he led his platoon north from the port of Inchon.

A second draft of the order reached his company commander and Ward was sent to Japan.

From his rear area barracks Ward wrote an appeal to his mother:

"My life is full and my love for you is equaled only by my love for little squaw (his daughter Bobbie Linda) and Bettye (his wife). I am no hero but I also have responsibilities."

Sorrowfully, Mrs. Peterson sat down and wrote a second letter to Gen. Cates. This time she asked that her son be allowed to return to combat duty.

Mass Graveyard Discovered In Cavern in California

BERKELEY, Cal.—William J. Wallace, archaeologist, reported recently the discovery of a strange mass graveyard 200 feet underground in a large limestone cavern in California.

Wallace said the cultural material unearthed appeared to be predominantly from the period between 1500 B. C. and 500 A. D.

The cavern is known as Moaning Cave. The deposits excavated were on the floor of the main chamber at the bottom of the cave's 200-foot vertical shaft.

There were found vast quantities of human bones, obsidian arrow points, stone pestles, abalone-shell ornaments, and various kinds of beads, a pipe bowl, and a few animal bones.

Wallace said he believed the corpses were thrown into the chamber from a ledge in the upper part of the cave. That theory, however, does not coincide with known facts about Indian tribes that once inhabited the area.

The Sierra Miwok tribe, for instance, either cremated or buried its dead. They believed the caverns were frequented by a giant who carried human victims into the depths to devour them.

Family of Eleven Escape When Water Tank Explodes

SALEM, N. H.—A farmer and the 11 persons in his home to celebrate Christmas escaped injury in one of the most unusual accidents of the year.

Anthony Donigian, 40, his wife, Mary, their seven children, and Mr. Donigian's parents, were in the kitchen eating their Christmas breakfast when there was a terrific explosion in the basement.

A 220-gallon water tank exploded in the cellar, shot through the living room floor, and struck the ceiling.

Donigian said the explosion was caused by the pressure in the tank when the pumping motor failed to shut off after the tank filled and the safety valve apparently stuck.

The explosion left an 8-by-4 foot hole in the living-room floor, shattered all the furniture in the room, smashed the ceiling and buckled the floor in the second-floor bed room.

Dr. Alpenfels Will Address Randall Co. Unit Thurs. Night

Members of the Randall County Unit and interested citizens of Canyon will be privileged to hear Dr. Ethel J. Alpenfels, guest speaker, at the annual dinner meeting of the unit Thursday, March 8, at 7:00 p. m. in the High School Cafeteria. Dr. Alpenfels has taught in the public schools of Colorado and Washington and in colleges and universities. At present she is Associate Professor of Education of New York University and was recently named one of twenty leading educators to the joint Educational Policies Commission of the National Education Association and the American Association of School Administrators.

She has received wide recognition for articles which appear in national magazines and educational journals. Last year she was chosen as one of the five outstanding women in the United States in the field of human relations.

This past summer she pioneered in teaching a summer school of 74 United States teachers, nurses, businessmen in the American Virgin Islands which begins a five year program by New York University Department of Sociology to take groups to live and study in different possessions of the United States.

Other numbers on the program will be furnished by various members of the Unit.

Tickets cost $1.35 and sales will be in charge of the following members: Miss Lucy Yarnell, West Texas College; Mrs. Ed Weeks, Mrs. Andy Walsh, and Mr. Cecil Briggs of Canyon Public Schools; and, also, at Thompson's Hardware.

Damaged highways, such as the Texas highway shown in this picture, are a hazard to the safe operation of automobiles, farm trucks and other motor vehicles.

It costs three times as much to build roads that will withstand the loads of big trucks now being operated over them than it does for the smaller trucks and automobiles.

Latest records show $115,282,344 was spent on Texas highways for the year ending August 31, 1950.

A bill sponsored by the big truck operators is before the Texas Legislature. This bill proposes . . . .

(1) to increase the load limit from the present 48,000 pounds to 72,000 pounds, and

(2) to increase the maximum truck length from 45 feet to 50 feet.

Recent official highway tests at La Plata, Md., sponsored by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, the highway departments of eleven states and the District of Columbia, effectively demonstrated that as trucks increased in size and loads, roads cracked up and "died" more quickly.

We need to safeguard our highways for Civilian and Military use. "Increased heavy loading might seriously disrupt the effectiveness of essential routes in the event of an all-out war," according to T. J. Kauer, director of the Ohio Highway Department and Chairman of the La Plata road test committee.

The big truckers want the taxpayers to continue providing expensive highways for them to use as "rights-of-way" for their own, selfish, personal gain.

THIS IS A TUG-OF-WAR BETWEEN THE BIG TRUCKERS AND THE TAXPAYERS OF TEXAS!

Automobiles and small trucks do not require extra strong, extra costly highways. The truth is, that the big truckers are putting the "pinch" on the pocketbooks of the Texas taxpayers.
